One-Piece Glasses Suggest Man May Become One-Eyed

THE BINOCLE

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Writer

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Probably the proper name for this is binocle, as contrasted with monocle.

The binocle, supposed to be the only eye-glass of its kind in existence, is a single piece of optical glass, fashioned so that both eyes look through it at the same time, and the same as through spectacles.

The shape is roughly like a rounded letter A. The legs of this letter are lenses, the cross bar over the nose, and above, shielding the forehead above the bridge of the nose, perhaps from dust, is the rest of the glass. A frame enables it to be worn like nose glasses.

This binocle was made in June by Phil H. Herbert, of the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., to show what may happen in the evolution of the human eye in the next few thousand years.

Evolution says that man's eyes probably were once on each side of his head like the animals. Man swiveled them around so he could focus both straight ahead.

If the swivelling continues, some of Herbert's associates argued, the eyes will some day meet and the future man will be a Cyclops.

Straws which point to that tendency are the fact that in many persons one eye is already dominant, and that civilization's work more and more concentrates sight on a single spot placed close in front of the face.

These colleges have also been given to the youth by their forefathers, as was all the great heritage of education. The tournament today was symbolic not of just seven colleges and half a hundred students but represented the cross section of the whole student body of our nation. Students today are thinking; thinking not only of national isolation, to keep us out of war, but thinking what will happen if we are thrown into another war; thinking through governmental problems, the corruption and vice that permeates our political system and all the other problems that challenge the youth of the day.

Youth is thinking and when the opportunity offers itself they will act. They will either have the problems thrashed out or they will be thrashing them out. As long as the universities and colleges are encouraged and supported by public spirited citizens there need be no doubt in their minds about the future of America. Youth is holding high the torch, higher than it was ever held before and it is lighting a path that shall some day lead to the ultimate end for which democracy is working. Youth is thinking and their elders need have no fear for the future. America's future is bright.

THE THINKING AMERICAN

Editor of The Star: I was impressed, this afternoon, by the youth of the nation. The occasion was a round robin debate tournament sponsored by Phi Kappa Delta, of Transylvania, an honorary debate fraternity, with chapters in all major colleges and universities throughout the country. Seven colleges and universities were represented which included over half a hundred students. The question debated was on whether the United States should and could isolate itself from warring nations outside the western hemisphere.

For over four hours that congress of students debated, matching wits and intelligence until their throats were hoarse, their bodies and minds tired. But the thing about the tournament that impressed me was not the physical and mental stamina of the contestants but what the tournament itself was symbolic of.

So many people today are inclined to believe that all the youth think of is a good time, and perhaps they have just reasons. Dance halls, beer joints, pool halls, road houses are filled every night, of carefree, restless, careless young men and women. Why shouldn't they think young people seek only after pleasures and entertainments that seem to satisfy their desires for good times?

But as the older generation sees the younger entering these holes of sin and corruption they must remember that these places were introduced and welded into the economic order of the community and not by the youth but by their elders. The youth, on the whole, have accepted what those ahead of them have set before them. The young men and women did not cast votes that legalized beer nor did they open up the new beer halls; they were not of age. But they have made access to them because these halls have been made accessible to the youth.

So age is inclined to think of youth, but let us look at youth from another angle. Let us go back to the college.

These colleges have also been given to the youth by their forefathers, as was all the great heritage of education. The tournament today was symbolic not of just seven colleges and half a hundred students but represented the cross section of the whole student body of our nation. Students today are thinking; thinking not only of national isolation, to keep us out of war, but thinking what will happen if we are thrown into another war; thinking through governmental problems, the corruption and vice that permeates our political system and all the other problems that challenge the youth of the day.

Youth is thinking and when the opportunity offers itself they will act. They will either have the problems thrashed out or they will be thrashing them out. As long as the universities and colleges are encouraged and supported by public spirited citizens there need be no doubt in their minds about the future of America. Youth is holding high the torch, higher than it was ever held before and it is lighting a path that shall some day lead to the ultimate end for which democracy is working. Youth is thinking and their elders need have no fear for the future. America's future is bright.

SCENE AS TUGS MANEUVERED "QUEEN ELIZABETH" INTO DOCK

The New York harbor was more than ever a "maritime Klondike" as the "Queen Elizabeth," Britain's largest and newest luxury liner, still uncompleted, made her way safely up the North river after a spectacular dash across the North Atlantic from her Clyde-side building place. Tugs are shown here pushing the vessel up to her dock. Directly behind the Queen Elizabeth is her sister ship, the Queen Mary. To the right is the Normandie, pride of the French merchant fleet. All are of more than 80,000 tons. (Associated Press Photo.)

FINNS UNLIKELY TO OK TERMS

Soviet Demands Not Likely To Be Acceptable to Helsinki.

HELSINKI, March 8—Finland's rejection of a reported Soviet peace-with-victory ultimatum appeared almost certain today as Finn gunners defending the headlands of Viipuri bay blasted at their foe on the fields of ice in perhaps the bloodiest fighting of the war.

The government disclosed receipt of word that a Russian peace proposal was planned, but well-informed persons said it already had been made, with even heavier assaults predicted upon refusal. Copenhagen reports said the Russians set midnight tonight as the deadline.

At least the general nature of the Russian offer was believed to be known to the Finnish government, with rejection inevitable if demands exceeded those made before the war started Nov. 30. Reports from Stockholm and Copenhagen indicated they did exceed the old ones.

Pre-War Demands

The pre-war demands called for a trade of some islands in the gulf of Finland, a Russian naval base at Hanko. In southwestern Finland, cession of part of the Karelian isthmus to Russia, border revision in the Arctic and demilitarization of the frontier. In return, Finland was offered a portion of Soviet Karelia north of Lake Ladoga.

(The Scandinavian reports said the new demands required that Finland surrender all the Karelian isthmus, the city of Viipuri, Lake Ladoga, the port and peninsula of Hanko, and part of the Petsamo district on the Arctic coast.)

More significant than the terms, in the opinion of Finns, was the fact that Russia was reported willing to make a settlement at all. Previously the Kremlin had declined to recognize the Finnish government, calling its leaders "white guards" and declaring it would deal only with a Red government which was proclaimed at Terijoki in territory occupied by the Red army at the start of the invasion.

Youth Is Arrested in Bungled Plot To Kidnap Actress

HOLLYWOOD, March 8—A curiously bungled plot to kidnap Judy Garland, 17-year-old singing star of the films, left a 19-year-old transient from Buffalo, N. Y., in jail today.

Officers said Robert Wilson planned, with an accomplice, the midnight abduction, then grew panicky and telephoned police that "Judy Garland will be kidnapped tonight."

He was booked tentatively on a charge of suspicion of kidnapping. A search for his companion was under way.

Capt. Grover Armstrong said Wilson told him that after watching the actress' $40,000 Bel-Air home for two days and learning that the servants would be off duty Thursday night, he and a friend decided to meet at midnight and break into the house. Becoming frightened, Wilson telephoned police from a Santa Monica hotel that "Judy Garland will be kidnapped tonight."

Police traced the call, and a hotel employee gave such an accurate description of Wilson that the youth was arrested, a block away. Meanwhile, reporters, photographers and 16 policemen had descended upon the Garland home where Judy and her sister, Virginia, in the absence of their mother and step-father, were entertaining six young friends.

"I've never been threatened before," Judy told them, calmly. "I'm sure everything will be all right—but make yourselves at home."

While her young guests resumed their dancing and games, Judy dished out ice cream to the visitors. The party ended when Judy's mother, Mrs. Ethel Gumm Gilmore, returned and young Wilson's arrest was disclosed.

Martin T. Manton (left), former presiding judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, is shown in New York as he started to the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary by automobile to begin a term for selling justice to Leo Lowenthal.

President To Speak in Celebration of U. S. Farm Program Anniversary

WASHINGTON, March 8—Dinner rallies in a score of states attracted thousands of farmers today to what Secretary Wallace termed a "non-political" celebration of the AAA's anniversary, featuring a speech by President Roosevelt.

The secretary of agriculture predicted that more than 300,000 farmers would sit down to 50 and 75-cent meals in 22 mid-western, southern and far-western states.

On the nationally-broadcast NBC program at 10:30 p. m. with Mr. Roosevelt, were Postmaster General Farley, who is chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Wallace, advocate of a third term for the Chief Executive.

Talks Non-Political

"The dinners and speeches will not be political," Wallace told reporters. "Republicans as well as Democrats have been invited."

He added that the dinners had been arranged by a committee of farm supporters of the agricultural adjustment program.

The rallies marked the anniversary of a call issued in 1933 for agricultural leaders to come to Washington to help draft what later became the first AAA, which the supreme court invalidated in 1936.

Local chapters of American Farm Bureau federation in the midwest, however, have been advised by their state leaders not to participate in them.

At a recent meeting in Des Moines, state Farm Bureau officials from the midwest region

HARDING MEMORIAL COMMITTEE NAMED

Elks Make Further Arrangements for June Event.

Plans for the statewide Elks' Harding Memorial program here in June were furthered at last night's meeting of Marion Lodge No. 32.

A committee composed of T. A. O'Leary, Grant E. Mouser Jr., Dr. C. J. Altmaier, H. J. Feidner and Dr. A. F. Linscott was appointed by the exalted ruler, B. A. Pierre, to assist the state committee in issuing invitations. J. T. Caulfield and Charles Klunk were named a local committee on hotel accommodations.

Sunday, April 7, was set for the initiation of candidates in the Harding memorial class. First nomination of officers was conducted in preparation for the election on March 21. One application for membership was balloted on and seven applications were received.

WELLES

sion yesterday, expressed himself today as being "entirely satisfied with my talk."

Welles can arrive at no other conclusion, in the belief of the French press, than that the nation is in a prime state of political health to achieve the allied war aim of victory first—peace later.

As President Roosevelt's emissary embarked on his second day of discussions, newspapers commented that his initial interview with Premier Daladier yesterday gave the American undersecretary of state his first opportunity to hear first hand of the political union that is the keystone of the war effort.

CONGRESS

authorized the state department to negotiate agreements, promptly contended such a change would scuttle the program.

Vying for congressional attention with action on this major recommendation of Mr. Roosevelt was a rising clamor for a big increase in the farm payments he proposed.

The house trimmed the President's budget estimates for the agriculture department from $780,020,510 to $715,930,084. But farm state senators, tilted of a billion-dollar bill through additional of from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000.

The appropriations subcommittee in charge of the annual agricultural supply bill scheduled final action on this economy vs. spending milestone today, with sentiment apparently in favor of the increase.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the subcommittee said he would insist that the committee include an item from "parity" payments to farmers. Some committee members said this might total from $200,000,000 to $225,000,000, with an additional $70,000,000 to $85,000,000 for export subsidies and disposal of surpluses, as well as $25,000,000 for a farm tenancy program.

If these increases should be approved by the senate and then by the house, substantially all the savings thus far made by congress in an effort to avoid both new taxes and an increase in the statutory debt limit, would be wiped out.

Administration leaders agreed that, if the subcommittee and then the full appropriations committee whip the farm bill into shape over the week-end, they would lay aside the trade agreements legislation in the senate Monday to consider it.

STATE TO REST SOON IN TRIAL OF STUDENT

CLEVELAND, March 8—The state neared the close of its testimony today in the first degree murder trial of John L. McGonick, 21-year-old University of Pittsburgh student accused of shooting a special policeman in a holdup here Jan. 8.

Victims of robberies admitted by McGonick in East Liverpool, O., and Fairmont, W. Va., were among the last witnesses on the prosecution list. The youth got $480 in the Ohio city Jan. 3 and $78 in Fairmont two days later. In both cities Western Union Telegraph Co. offices were held up.

Defense counsel James C. Connel indicated the defendant would not take the stand until Monday. There will be no sessions tomorrow.

BOY, 11, FINDS PARENTS AND SISTER SHOT DEAD

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 8—Eleven-year-old John Blastick found his father, mother and 15-year-old sister shot to death early today in the yard at their farm home at Spillway lake near this southwestern Pennsylvania city.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. John Blastick and their daughter, Florence.

The son discovered the bodies as he crossed the yard on his way to feed livestock. Neighbors reported they heard shots during the night, but John said neither he nor his two younger brothers had heard them.

Young Blastick said he came upon his father's body near a barn and that a pistol lay nearby. Bodies of the mother and daughter were found in sheds in the yard. All had been shot in the head.

500 CHICKS DIE IN BROODER HOUSE FIRE

Five hundred two-week-old chicks were suffocated when a brooder house at the Otto Simmerman farm two miles south of Marion on the Delaware road caught fire yesterday.

Mr. Simmerman, who operates the Mar-O-Del market a short distance south of Marion, said that apparently a kerosene stove in the brooder house either became overheated or fell over. He estimated the loss at $75.

The fire was discovered about 10 a. m. by Marion Grammer, an employee of the market, when he went to the Simmerman farm for supplies. The youth called Mr. Simmerman and the two extinguished the fire. Mr. Simmerman reported that only minor damage resulted in the brooder house.

GERMAN BOMBER SHOT DOWN OFF SCOTLAND

LONDON, March 8—The air ministry announced a German bomber was shot down today off North Scotland. The raider was the second victim of the British off Scotland in two days and the 45th on or near the coast since the war began.

FINNISH WAR

help given to Finland—possibly by sending an expeditionary force of her own against Helsinki—and that "a last resort for peace is now some form of compromise."

Finnish Decision Up to Mannerheim

OSLO, Norway, March 8—The newspaper Tidens Tegn said today that the Finnish government has laid the final decisions of peace or continued war with Russia in the hands of Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim and that his decision depends on what possibility he sees of help from abroad.

British See U. S. Bid To Mediate

LONDON, March 8—Usually well-informed sources said today that the British government believed that the United States might be asked to mediate the Finnish-Russian war.

"These sources said 'some sort' of negotiations were believed to be in progress under Swedish supervision, but that another party, 'possibly the United States,' might be invited to further the peace-making efforts."

EDWIN MARKHAM DIES

IN N. Y. AT AGE OF 87

NEW YORK, March 8—Edwin Markham has entered upon "the greatest of all adventures."

The poet who rose to fame on "The Man With the Hoe," died last night of pneumonia at the age of 87.

The painting of the same name by Jean Francois Millet served as Markham's inspiration for "The Man With the Hoe." He wrote it, a stanza a day, in 1888; then set it aside for 13 years before finally sending it to the editor of a San Francisco newspaper.

It was an immediate success. His last years were plagued with a failing memory, age and infirmities, but with all he was not alarmed by his approaching end. He looked forward to exploring "the mysteries of the dead."

DETECTIVE ENDS LIFE IN FACE OF ARREST

BARTON, O., March 8—A bullet through the heart spared Police Detective John C. Baylor, 49, arrest on warrant charging him with misapplication of police funds.

The body of the veteran officer, who would have been eligible next month for a $100-a-month pension after 25 years' service, was found on a bank of the Ohio canal yesterday.

City Solicitor Harold Eckroste said Baylor shot and killed himself within an hour after the issuance of two warrants against him. Warrants charged misappropriation of $420 of the police pension fund and $530.20 in funds of Barton lodge, Fraternal Order of Police. Baylor served three years as secretary of the latter, and a longer period as secretary of the pension fund board.

KENT, O., ARMY PILOT KILLED IN MICHIGAN

ROCHESTER, Mich., March 8—A 22-year-old army flyer from Kent, O., was killed as his plane crashed in a field two miles south of here.

Witnesses said Lieut. Wilmer W. Wunzenmayer's ship went out of control in a dive during yesterday's maneuvers at 1,000 feet. It plunged to earth and burst into flames.

NEW ARCHBISHOP OF CHICAGO ASCENDS TO THRONE

3 PER CENT DIVIDEND PAID BANK CREDITORS

Payments of Defunct Commercial Bank Reach 50 Per Cent.

The trustees of the closed Commercial bank yesterday distributed checks to creditors, representing a dividend of three per cent. The distribution brings to 80 per cent the amount of the claims paid since the bank closed several years ago.

Affairs of the bank which had been in charge of the state banking superintendent since the closing, were taken over sometime ago by a group of trustees approved by the common pleas court.

The Commercial bank's private depositors have almost all been paid off 100 per cent, excepting some who have not appeared to claim their payments. Principal creditors now are public funds and banks.

the man who did chores on the 80-acre farm never showed any interest in Marjorie.

Smith appeared at the girl's school shortly before noon and told the teacher, Mrs. Avonell Hall, that Mrs. Gamble was ill and wanted Marjorie to return to her home, three miles away.

Taking her lunch, books and coat, the girl rode away with Smith in an automobile. Mrs. Hall said she thought Smith was Marjorie's brother.

The Gambles have two other children, both married.

Smith was employed by Gamble three months ago. Although Smith said he came to Richland county last autumn from the west, his home was believed to be in the south, Gamble said.

Health Board Hears Milk

specific standard of quality, that it is a little better than average milk."

Mr. Isaly then explained that the present city milk code, passed 15 years ago, was "up-to-the-minute" when it was passed, but a great many new methods and standards have been developed since then.

Both he and Mr. Clark emphasized the point that it would not be compulsory for farmers or dairy companies to produce milk under the new code unless they wanted to.

"When we go to a store and get something under a label we expect to get what the label tells us we are getting," Mr. Clark said. "If a producer and a dairyman want to produce milk under the standard (federal) ordinance and put labels on the milk that really mean something they should have that privilege. It would not be necessary for others to comply."

Producer's Argument

The milk producers told the board they believe that the quality of milk offered Marion consumers is "very good" and that the code would impose a financial burden on the small producer who is unable to invest in equipment.

Mr. Cuslek, who spoke first for the producers, expressed the opinion that the small producer, especially the tenant farmer, would be unable to invest in the required equipment and would lose the income now received from milk.

Mr. Williams said he believed approval of the code would encourage many Marion county farmers to quit selling milk and would encourage producers out of the county to ship milk here.

Mr. Lawrence said the Milk Producers association had estimated it would cost Marion county farmers at least $100,000 to comply with the code. Similar statements were made by several other producers present, many of whom ridiculed some provisions of the code.

Mr. Isaly and Mr. Clark declared that from the producer's point-of-view there was little difference between the proposed code and the one now in effect here with the exception of a few changes such as:

1. Milk pails must be of a type with a partial metal covering.
2. Milk cannot be strained in a barn but in a milk house or a small roofed shelter outside the barn.
3. Milk must be separated and prepared for sale in milk houses supplied with hot water and milk cans and other utensils must be washed in the milk house.
4. The section of barns housing cows must be separated from other sections of the barns by concrete partitions if the milk is to be placed on the market in its raw state or by wood partitions if the milk is to be pasteurized.

These four regulations were the center of much of the discussion, the farmers contending that producers always used sanitary methods in their milk production and that rigid requirements were unnecessary.

Says Milk Among Best

Mr. Zachman declared that the new code not only would be a burden to the producers but also to the operators of small dairies and added that "Marion has always been getting excellent milk recognized as among the best in the state."

He also took exception to statements that compliance with the code would be voluntary.

"If some of the larger dairies have the privilege of marketing their milk 'Grade A' and the smaller dairies don't, the public will soon be demanding the 'Grade A' milk whether it is actually better than the ungraded milk or not," he said. "The net result would be that all dairies would be forced to come in under the code or else go out of business."

Peace Talk Looks Like Move To Halt Broadening of War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Sweden's part in the Russo-Finnish "peace" talk strikes me as an anxious effort to escape the pressure which comes on one hand from the growing tendency of the Anglo-French allies to intervene in the conflict, and on the other from German threats of reprisals for abandonment of neutrality.

Allied intervention certainly would drag unwilling Sweden and Norway into the upheaval, against both the Reds and Germany—an eventuality which the two neutrals have been trying desperately to avoid.

This sudden development probably runs counter to allied projects for rescuing the Finns and at the same time opening up a new northern front against Hitler. If successful, the peace-bid will greatly alter the course of the European crisis.

Setback To Allies

Indeed, should the Finns be compelled to accept a conqueror's terms, thereby giving Russia and Germany control of northern Europe, it obviously would represent a serious setback to the allies.

Not only would it deprive England and France of an opportunity to strike at Hitler from the north, but it would make available to the Nazis the Russian supplies which now are flowing into the Finnish invasion. Such an outcome also would tend to swing the Balkans back toward Germany.

There are indications, however, that Sweden is acting with the acquiescence of England and France, perhaps because they feel that the Finns are likely to reject the terms.

Unconfirmed reports of Bolshevik terms make it look tough for little Finland.

The Muscovites are said to be demanding surrender of the Karelian isthmus across which runs the now famous Mannerheim line, great Lake Ladoga, the strategic railway center of Viipuri, the powerful naval port of Hanko in southeastern Finland, the entire Peninsula upon which Hanko stands, and a slice of territory by Finland's Arctic port of Petsamo.

Acceptance Unlikely

Unless the Finns are utterly dependent of getting outside help in resisting the Red invasion, they aren't likely to accept any such program.

The hearts of the two Scandinavian countries have been wholly with Finland, and they have permitted considerable aid to be sent to the hard-pressed Finns. Fear of an attack by Germany, however, has impeded Stockholm from sending more than a few hundred rifles and machine guns.

The allies have tried unavailingly to persuade the neutrals, including Sweden and Norway, to join them. Despite the impediments there have been many indications that England and France were persisting with the idea of getting organized aid to the Finns.

Wellfare Director Charles J. Sherwood opposed the plan, however, on the grounds that subdivisions would be included to "get their share" regardless of legitimate need.

Norway and Sweden have been increasingly fearful that their neutrality would be involved.

Curious Developments

Now we get the peace move. Coincidentally there was a curious development in two seemingly unrelated chapters like this:

(1) Premier Chamberlain stated that the government had changed its plans and wouldn't at this time publish the much talked-of blue book about Anglo-Russian negotiations. These revelations were expected to be particularly disastrous to Russia.

(2) First Lord of the Admiralty Churchill in reply to a question, said that British has taken no steps to halt the transport of Swedish ore to Germany. He admitted that the government was aware of the importance of this traffic to the Nazis, but said that its arrest "would involve many serious considerations."

So far as I can see, these two remarkable statements can only mean that Sweden has requested England (1) not to antagonize Russia pending the peace effort, and (2) not to interfere with the ore shipments and thereby force the wrath of Germany against Sweden. And Britain has acquiesced.

Setback To Allies

TWO FARM AGENCIES HELP BUTTER PRICES
By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 7 — The Dairy Products Marketing Association and Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation have ceased trying temporarily after pouring approximately $77,500 into the New York and Chicago spot butter markets in five days to stabilize prices and absorb relief supplies.
The sudden spurt, the first activity of the two government sponsored agencies in these markets since last September, left them with 955,030 pounds of butter on hand. The price of 92-score apparently had steadied at around 28 cents a pound.
Monday the price apparently had steadied at 28 cents. Tuesday the two agencies dropped out and traders' demand spurred prices to 28 1/2 here and 29 in New York. They remained out of the market Wednesday and the prices held steady.

FCA REPORTS ON LOANS TO AMERICAN FARMERS
WASHINGTON, March 7—The farm credit administration reported today that loans it had advanced to farmers for purchase of farms, equipment, livestock and improvements and for refinancing old mortgages totaled $2,585,534,825 on Jan. 1.
This debt volume compared with $2,755,074,803 a year earlier and the peak of $2,000,936,491 on Jan. 1, 1936. The loans outstanding numbered 1,057,532.
Ohio Federal Land bank and land commissioner loans outstanding Jan. 1 this year and last, respectively, were: $72,927,552 and $78,822,447; West Virginia loans were $10,467,314 and $11,118,144.

Eight Marion Fighters Win in Golden Gloves Battle

Crowd of 400 on Hand for Second Session; Only One Kayo Scored; Youth's Nose Fractured.

By CHARLES HOSTETLER
Marion Star Sports Editor

TWELVE fights comprised the bill-of-fare dished up for some 400 spectators on hand last night at the second elimination session of Marion's 1940 Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

Although the total attendance was slightly under that of the opening night, the number of paid admissions was virtually the same. The difference in over-all estimates of the crowd is explained by the absence of contestants who failed to get by initial bouts.

Of the dozen fistie duels, seven went the full three rounds to decisions. A quartet ended in technical knockouts and one honest-to-goodness kayo was registered. Majority of fighters were local youths and they wound up with a biggest percentage of victories.

12 From Marion

In the field of 24 fighters, 13 were from Marion, seven represented Bucyrus, two Crestline and one each from Leonaardsburg and Galion. Eight of the 13 local boys were victors. The list might have been higher, except that many were paired against each other. Bucyrus had three conquerors and one Crestline youth was among the survivors.

Although the show might have been a little less spectacular than the opening card, fans witnessed a bigger portion of good ring-work. Contestants appeared a little more polished and managed to give a better account of themselves in the squared circle. Only one incident marred an otherwise perfect card.

First injury of a serious nature bobbed up in the form of a fractured nose suffered by Frank Young, Marion middleweight. Young lost a decision to Kenneth Barice, another local youth. Both had scored knockdowns in the first and second, but Barice took the edge by keeping a left jab in Young's face. The injured fighter was given first aid treatment in the dressing room by an attending physician.

Lands Sleeper

Clarence "Red" Applegate, Bucyrus welterweight favorite, took considerable punishment before he landed a kayo blow on the jaw of Glendon Toops of Marion. Toops kept a fist in Applegate's face constantly and had the carotid-topped fighter's nose bleeding. "Red" waded through a lot of leather to land the sleeper. Toops apparently struck his head on Applegate's knee as he fell. It may have been a contributing cause to the kayo, which came at 1:30 in the second.

Technical knockouts were numerous but it was a full three-rounder between middleweights Joe Benedict of Marion and Merle Kleinknecht of Galion that gathered most attention. The decision favoring Benedict, at the close of a gruelling exchange, was

Style Note

Louis August, young and brilliantly successful boxing coach at the University of Idaho, doesn't think experience is the best teacher — when it brings broken noses and cuts. So he has developed the above uniform to protect his proteges when they are beginning to learn. The padding lets the boy develop into a calm, scientific fighter without fear of punches. August has turned out three national champion fighters and a national title team.

The Mask To Meet Tex Hager Monday; Haddock Also Billed

Higami To Try Sleep Hold on Chicago Grunter in Shovel Mat Bout.

Return of a pair of toughies, The Mask and Dale Haddock, the Chicago hoodlum, should provide the highlights of next Monday's wrestling show at the Marion Steam Shovel gymnasium. The Mask will tackle Tex Hager of Eugene, Ore. Dale Haddock will engage Higami, Japanese ju jitsu artist whose favorite grip is the "sleep" hold. The scraps are co-featured, each being billed with a 90-minute time limit and two falls deciding the winner.

The mystery man comes to Marion for the first time since early January. He walloped Danny Savich and Paul Orth on successive week-ends and then dropped a close one to Marino Angelo. He became the Italian's victim when he lopped out of the ring on his head.

Tex Hager has been a consistent winner here becoming a part of the local mat picture some months ago. He graduated to the professional ranks after a brilliant career on the collegiate mats for the University of Oregon. Higami, who employed his "sleep" hold to trim aggressive Jack Hagen of Shreveport, La. last Monday, will need the advantage of his slumberland grip against Haddock. The Chicagoan has been known to stoop to almost anything to win, and he'll probably be particularly rough with the Nipponese warrior.

Promoters are booking a 20-minute preliminary to round out the program. The curtain-raiser will start hostilities at 8:30.

Hemsley To Be Switch Hitter

FORT MYERS, Fla.—They laughed a week ago when Catcher Rollie Hemsley told his Cleveland Indian teammates he was going to bat left-handed. Although he has been strictly a right-handed batter throughout his major career, Hemsley plans to be a switch hitter this season and has been slugging hard from the port side in preparation. He is a capable drag bunter and thinks saving a stride will help him.

Four N.C.O. Stars Honored in A.P. Selections.

Russell Reichardt, stellar guard of Marion Harding's basketball team, today received the signal honor of gaining recognition in the selection of the 1940 All-Ohio scholastic cage squad.

He was given an honorable mention berth. Three other athletes in the North Central Ohio conference got similar recognition, Jake Givens and Bill Crumrine of Mt. Vernon and Vince Barr of Ashland.

Selections were made from among approximately 25,000 boys enrolled on Ohio teams, in a poll of sports writers and coaches, conducted by The Associated Press. Team records played no part in the selection, individual play alone being considered in naming the stars into the hall of fame.

Several athletes from this section and others who were members of teams which came here to oppose local squads are included on the honor list. Fear of Wharton, Wyandot county team, Martin of Belleville, and Hyatt of Amanda, one of the current tourney contenders at Westerville, received honorable mention in the Class B group.

W. McClain of Bellevue, the opening-game foe that toppled Harding, drew a second string berth in Class A. Paul Abbott of Lancaster St. Mary, an opponent of the local Saints, was placed on first string in the Class B section. Hildreth of Bellefontaine, winner of the honorable mention list in Class A.

First teams in both sections follow:

Class A—Glen Barker of New Philadelphia and Horace Gillom of Massillon, forwards; Robert Shaw of Fremont, center; Chet Sealey of Gallipolis and Robert Miller, Greenfield, guards.

Throne Shaky

Featherweight Joey Archibald (above) is the most frequently beaten champion in the game. The other night he dropped his fifth fight since winning the title in 1933, but he still has the crown. Tricky as they come, he requires most of his fees to fight him over-weight, making them non-title bouts.

Class A—like Ramsier of Rittman and Richard Strider of Glenford, forwards; James Weber of Pettisville, center; Sterling Pollock of North Canton and Paul Abbott of Lancaster St. Mary, guards.
